

May 2, 2016
By NCTA News Service

Lashley signs with NCTA livestock team

College-bound freshman Nathan Lashley of Medicine Valley High School in Curtis has signed a letter of intent to serve on the livestock judging team at the Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture. Lashley, center, is flanked by his parents, Rene and Ted Lashley of Curtis. Back row, are Douglas Smith, NCTA Livestock Judging Team coach, Tonya Mortensen, MVHS agriculture education teacher, and Steve Gleisberg, MVHS principal. (T. Smith/NCTA photo)