

Oct. 1, 2018
By NCTA News

Aggie Men's Rodeo places in Iowa

Fort Dodge, Iowa – NCTA Aggie Rodeo teams competed last weekend in the Great Plains Region competition of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association.

Athletes from the Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture in Curtis rode tough in the two-day rodeo hosted by Iowa Central Community College.

“We traveled with six students this week,” said Coach Taylor Rossenbach. “The NCTA Men's Team finished fifth overall for the weekend.”

In team roping, Quentin Anderson of Pierce finished ninth in the long round, first in the short round and first in the average of the team roping. He is a heeler and his partner, Mykelsi Schnose is with Mid Plains Community College.

Aggie Rodeo has this next weekend off and then three contests remaining of the fall season.

Oct. 10-11 – Aggie Rodeo Team to Sisseton-Wahpeton Community College, Sisseton, S.D.

Oct. 12-13 – Aggie Rodeo to North Dakota State University, Fargo, N.D.

Oct. 19-20 – Aggie Rodeo to Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa

NCTA Rodeo Team members include:

Women's Team, from left –
Madison Schnase, Lincoln
Emma Bassler, Blair
Cheyenne Eden, Humboldt
Tara Spatz, Trotwood, Ohio
Shelby Dismuke, Pine, Colorado

Men's Team, from left –
Baily Holt, Ainsworth
Trey Baum, Elgin
Quentin Anderson, Pierce
Austin Porras, Greeley, Colorado
Jebb Ginkens, Harrison

(Photo credit: Tori Rossenbach)

#

Online article at: <https://go.unl.edu/iq94>

Source: Taylor Rossenbach, NCTA Aggie Rodeo Coach, (308) 367-7882

Editor: Mary Crawford, NCTA News coordinator, (308) 367-523, mcrawford@unl.edu