

April 22, 2019

By Jocelyn Kennicutt, NCTA News

NCTA to host public student speeches

CURTIS, Neb. – The Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture will hosted a Student Speech Night on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Nebraska Agriculture Industry Education Center.

Nine students will deliver short, 5- or 6-minute presentations which are intended to persuade, interest, entertain or inform listeners, said Eric Reed, chair of the General Education Division.

Topics are selected by the students and vary from themes such as outdoor survival basics, bucking bulls, and a bird-drone conspiracy theory.

Presenters will feature:

- Cari Howell, Lewiston
- Aurora Urwiler, Laurel
- Anna Whyman, Lincoln,
- Helen Albaugh, Fallon, Nevada
- Amy Fishel, Alma
- Logan Van Anne, Gering
- Anna Esch, Spalding
- Lennae Eisenmenger, Humphrey
- Jocelyn Kennicutt, Gothenburg

The Curtis community is invited and encouraged to attend, Reed said.

Public speaking is a life skill applied at NCTA. In this file photo from 2017, Baily Holt of Bassett makes a class presentation in a ranch practicum course. He receives his associate degree May 2 in livestock management with a certificate in agribusiness as well. (Photo by Craig Chandler / NCTA)

#

Source: Eric Reed, Gen Ed Division chair, ered2@unl.edu or 308-367-5276.

Editor: Mary Crawford, NCTA News coordinator, 308-367-5231, mcrawford@unl.edu